RESPECT FOR TRADITIONS

The culinary poultry tradition of Central Europe dates back to the pre-industrial food processing era, which is why poultry specialties in this region are still true delicacies today. At TOP-Farm, we honor this tradition by continuously improving our recipes that combine traditional production methods with the most modern technologies. Our poultry is raised in the best conditions, on bedding, on farms with proper free-range access, and fed without any chemicals, antibiotics, or growth hormones. The meat is processed in the poultry house under strict hygienic conditions, using advanced technologies and meticulous manual work by experienced employees, resulting in TOP-quality products on the plates of satisfied customers.
